

LARO Cod.1396

A linen check defines LARO through a clear, ordered geometry. The pattern is built from the regular crossing of woven linen stripes, forming a grid at a scale that reads with continuity and clarity. The weave preserves a classic linen hand, natural and structured, with gentle variations in the yarn that bring depth to the check. These irregularities animate the pattern without disrupting its order, giving the fabric a material presence well suited to upholstery, cushions, roman blinds, and decorative textile applications.

The color range mirrors that of its striped counterpart, ALDEN, expressed through the added dimension of intersecting tones. White paired with natural linen presents the check in its most neutral form. An earthy bronze develops depth where tones cross, introducing mineral nuance. A hazel variant brings warmth through the interaction of warp and weft yarns. The final variant combines a muted grayish-brown with clean white, where contrast remains balanced. LARO offers a check grounded in linen and essential ease.
