

PARKER Cod.1901

A classic pied-de-poule, also known as dogtooth, interpreted at a compact scale for interior use. Woven in Italy from pure wool yarn, spun in Tuscany, PARKER shows a composed and balanced character, paired with a naturally warm and substantial hand suited to upholstery.

Set at a micro scale, the pattern holds proportion across both smaller pieces and larger applications, remaining visually controlled without dominating the space. Its regular rhythm gives continuity to upholstered surfaces, contributing to interiors that feel ordered and considered. Pure wool lends the fabric inherent resilience, breathability, and stability over time. The fiber's elasticity supports daily use while maintaining shape and comfort, making it particularly appropriate for seating and upholstered elements.

The color range is built around discreet, tone-on-tone combinations alongside deeper, more contrasted variations, forming a sober and versatile palette. Designed for sofas, seating, armchairs, panels, cushions and interior elements, PARKER integrates easily into both contemporary and more classic interiors. Rooted in Italian wool weaving, PARKER reflects a tradition shaped by material knowledge and long-standing craftsmanship.
